'A caring school where we put pupils and their achievement first'

Specific Teacher Responsibilities

- Support the Head of Faculty in the development of an effective strategy to develop outstanding practice within Humanities.
- Use current Humanities intervention programmes for your own classes that close the gap for pupils who may not be reaching or exceeding national expectations, particularly for vulnerable groups such as Pupil Premium pupils.
- Ensure consistent application of the School's chosen approach to assessment for Humanities groups, tracking pupil progress and securing understanding in other staff of their accountability for every individual's progress.
- Lead the promotion and development of pupils' character through Humanities.
- Monitor provision across their Humanities classes, informing the Head of Faculty of areas of development, contributing to the faculty action planning and SEF.
- Demonstrate how effective provision for Humanities can enhance pupil learning and outcomes.
- Research and develop new ideas, resources, units of work to disseminate within the faculty, looking for transferability across subjects. Produce high quality lesson plans and other exemplars as required.
- Use data to inform learning and teaching within their area as appropriate, ensuring that lessons are well differentiated, providing for all individual pupil needs.
- Model best practice in effective use of pupil performance data, pupil target setting, marking and classroom intervention as appropriate.
- Demonstrate the use of new technologies to enhance the learning process within the Humanities faculty.
- Support the transition process between Key Stages within Humanities.
- Promote pedagogy that engages and enthuses learners.
- Carry out the role of a form tutor.
- Play a full role in the School's enrichment programme and support the extended learning programme including visits relating to their specialist area.
- Recognise and reward pupils making good progress.
- Any other duties which will assist in the smooth operation of the Department, as requested by the Head of Department.
